

- Narrator 1: Our vision is a world where all people have access to opportunities that give them purpose, prosperity and belonging. [0,0:10]
- Narrator 1: The Open Door Group started in 1976 by a small group of community volunteers. [0,0:15]
- Narrator 2: My name is Sang and I'm an employment placement specialist. [0,0:20]
- Narrator 2: I have been working with Open Door for eight years. [0,0:22]
- Narrator 2: We hear from a lot of clients that we help them find their first employment. [0,0:30]
- Narrator 3: I participated in the peer support training group. [0,1:12]
- Narrator 3: I wish I had this when I was a little bit younger. [0,1:20]
- Narrator 2: As an employment facilitator, seeing how happy it made clients when they got a job was very rewarding. [0,1:30]
- Narrator 4: We've always been a very inclusive employer. [0,1:40]
- Narrator 4: We're always very much about if we think you'll be a good fit for us, we'll get along, we are happy to train you from the ground up. [0,1:45]
- Narrator 5: We've been using the Open Door Group for quite a few years now. [0,1:50]
- Narrator 2: Most of the clients I see for the first time are not really smiling all the time. They've been denied or rejected by other employers. [0,2:00]
- Narrator 2: Some clients have physical or mental disabilities. [0,2:10]
- Narrator 4: A lot of people don't realize on all the great people they're missing out on. [0,2:20]
- Narrator 3: It's about making sure that everyone does have equal chances, equal opportunity to grow and to prove themselves. [0,2:30]
- Narrator 1: Open Door Group has become a really being pioneering the beginning of 2023. [0,2:40]
- Narrator 6: We're working with hundreds of employers to improve their accessibility and inclusion in the workplace. [0,2:50]
- Narrator 6: A huge part of our focus is working with those local organizations and building partnerships. [0,3:00]
- Narrator 1: Over the last five decades, Open Door Group has supported tens of thousands of unique individuals on their journey to find employment. [0,3:10]